Accolade for Pomme d'Or Hotel

The four-star hotel beat off competition from within Jersey, Guernsey and Sark to win the inaugural HotelClub awards last month. The awards are based on the 'people's choice', and earlier this year 10,000 consumer voters nominated more than 22,000 hotels across Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

A short list of hotels was then produced for each country region within the UK and Ireland, and the Pomme d'Or came out top in the Channel Islands. The hotel's general manager, Luis de Oliveira, and the director of Jersey Tourism, David de Carteret, collected the award on 21 June. It was presented by TV presenter Ben Fogle and 'Home & Away' actress Holly Brisley, who were the hosts for the evening.
