Consumers name St Davids best hotel

ST DAVIDS Hotel & Spa in Cardiff has been named the best hotel in Wales.

The five-star waterfront hotel was voted the best in Wales at the inaugural HotelClub Hotel Awards for the finest hotels in Great Britain and Ireland, designed to reward excellence in the travel industry. The St Davids Hotel & Spa, which was acquired by Principal Hotels earlier this year, was awarded at a ceremony at Vinopolis, near Londons South Bank. The HotelClub Hotel Awards is a peoples choice awards ceremony, where 10,000 consumer voters nominated more than 22,000 of their favourite hotels.

Sally Rouse, sales and marketing director of the St Davids Hotel & Spa, said, The awards follow one of the largest-ever consumer-based surveys; to have been named the best hotel in Wales demonstrates the high regard in which we are held throughout Wales and the rest of the UK. It is a tremendous honour for everyone at the hotel and spa to receive this award, voted for by those we value most, our guests. They recognise both the excellent contribution made by our staff to the city of Cardiff and Wales as a whole in recent years. The HotelClub Hotel Awards have been created in conjunction with Insight Guides, bringing together a worldwide hotel booking service and a UK guide book company.

Every winner at the awards is to be included in the Insight Guide to Great Britain and Irelands Best Hotels due for release in 2008.

The award was accepted on behalf of the St Davids Hotel & Spa by sales manager Kelly Reardon-Brown. The St Davids Hotel & Spa hotel has four meeting rooms, which can accommodate private dinner parties for up to 40 people or meetings for up to 45 people theatre style.

It has 132 rooms, including 20 suites, all with views of the bay and wood-slatted decks on balconies.
